WASHINGTON, Feb. 4-President Kennedy, who has a contagious sense of humor, tells this story on his Secretary of Labor.

Recently, when Secretary Arthur Goldberg went mountain climbing, he was gone for some time and the people at the Jan at the base of the mountain became worried and summoned help from the Red Cross The Red Cross flew around the Red Cross flew around mountain in a helicopter, calling. from a loudspeaker:

"Arthur Goldherg, this is the Red Cross. Arthur Goldherg, this is the Red Cross,"

For a long time there was no answer, Finally a faint voice replied from down below:

"This is Goldberg. I gave through the office this year."

Snub to a Lady

Jockeying for committee posi-tion in the U.S. Senate may not mean much to the outsider. But insiders know it can affect U.S. policy and laws which the American people have to live under.

During five Congresses the late Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire rose to his feet at the opening session to announce that he wished to step aside as ranking member of the Sen-ate Armed Services Committee in favor of his Republican colleague from Massachusetts, Leverett Saltonstall.

Inside fact was Saltonstall had pestered and badgered Bridges with the argument that since Bridges was ranking Resince Bridges was ranking He-publican on both Appropriations and Armed Services, he should relinquish one of these posts to his colleague from Massa-chusetts, Bridges and so. Now the shoe is on the other foot and the tall blueblood from Boston, Lev Saltonstall, is the ton Republican on the same:

her two on the Armed Services Committee. Senator Saltonstall prides himself on being a courtly man. But he has not done for Mrs. Smith what he asked Bridges to do for him.

Ten years ago, Senator Smith was a member of the McCarthy Investigating committee. Being a lady of both courage and principle, she didn't like McCarthy's tactics and said so.

McCarthy promptly bounced

Mrs. Smith off his investigating committee.

Last week, Senator Smith again showed courage, Sin challenged John McCone as unqualified to be head of Central Intelligence. Central Intelligence hitherto has reported, intermit-tently and not very satisfactoriby to a subcommittee of Armed Services on which the top two ranking Republicans are mem-

Mrs. Smith, whether Saltonstall bows or not, is among the top two Republicans. But it's reported in Senate cloakrooms that she will now be penalized for her opposition and denied a position on the subcommittee, which is supposed to check on 'CIA.

The Justice Department is about to crack down hard on a prominent New Yorker for income tax fraud. In figuring travel and entertainment expenses to $7,000. For good measure, he put a "one" in front of the seven"—making it $17,000 for travel and entertainment. Internal Revenue Service says this case will be prosecuted not only as a flagrant violation of the law, but as a warning to other taxpayers against abuses of entertainment and business expense allowances.
